

Joe Enright
Director of Policy
Illinois Office of the Comptroller

Joe Enright has been the policy director for Illinois State Comptroller Daniel Hynes for the past two years. He was named director after serving four years as a policy analyst for the comptroller. As policy director, Joe is responsible for overseeing the research, development and implementation of office policies. He is in charge of a wide range of policy areas and has managed projects that include funding for stem cell research, government transparency initiatives and ethics reform legislation.

Joe is currently finishing his Juris Doctor at Loyola University Chicago School of Law.